COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURAL, CONSUMER & ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES

Assistant Dean, Agriculture and Agribusiness

WE TRANSFORM LIVES.

Everything we do is designed to improve the quality of life of the people in the state of Illinois, across the nation, and around the world. We discover, develop, translate, and disseminate knowledge to address societal concerns and train the next generation of experts and leaders in a way that empowers them to expand the boundaries of science to higher levels of understanding and influence.

Be a part of our story. Through learning partnerships that extend knowledge and change lives, University of Illinois Extension provides educational programs aimed at making life better, healthier, safer, and more profitable for individuals and their communities. Illinois Extension has operated continuously for more than 100 years connecting the citizens of Illinois to their land-grant university by providing educational programming around the state. University of Illinois Extension is based in the College of ACES and works with all colleges and units of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

The Assistant Dean (Program Leader) for Agriculture and Agribusiness (AAB) serves as a regular, full time, 12-month academic professional with primary responsibility for leading and developing statewide educational programming in commercial agriculture, horticulture, local foods/small farms, and systems that support these critical areas for the Illinois food and agriculture industry. The Assistant Dean for AAB supports one of the six core Extension program areas and within the AAB program area may focus on one or more of the following interdisciplinary initiatives: Community; Economy; Environment; Food, and/or Health. The Assistant Dean for AAB provides organizational leadership in building relationships and reporting outcomes to Regional and County Directors, local, state and national legislators, and other stakeholders. The incumbent provides leadership to Extension's volunteer delivery system and provides summaries of the value of volunteers and AAB program outcomes and impacts.

The Assistant Dean for AAB will be expected to lead and deliver research-based educational programs and to work within team settings that may consist of other Extension Assistant Deans, Extension Regional and County Directors, Extension Educators and Specialists, and faculty within and outside of the College of ACES. Establishment of a program of work based on community-based needs assessments is essential to provide clear directions, partnerships, and collaborations to successfully solve grand challenges.

The Assistant Dean for AAB is expected to concentrate programmatically on commercial agriculture, agribusiness, livestock management, agronomy, specialty crop production, horticulture, plant diagnostics, pesticide safety, and soil and water, among other critical areas. The Assistant Dean is responsible for the Master Gardener program and other AAB-oriented services and for developing innovative programs that address AAB needs in Illinois. Close collaboration with other Assistant Deans is required. The Assistant Dean for AAB also will be expected to build networks among diverse groups and take a systems approach to leading efforts in AAB. The Assistant Dean for AAB will be located in Urbana-Champaign on the University of Illinois campus, and will report to the Associate Dean and Director of Extension and Outreach, and will be available to all of Illinois Extension and Outreach.

One full time position is available.
